Dear Pinterest Hiring Team,

I am thrilled to apply for the Apprentice Product Manager role at Pinterest. As a recent graduate of UC Berkeley's Haas School of Business, I come from a non-technical background but carved my own path by teaching myself new skills and ultimately earning admission to Haas. The chance to join a team dedicated to inspiring millions to create a life they love resonates deeply with me because I forged my own unconventional journey towards building mine.

At Haas, I focused on marketing, entrepreneurship, and consulting, and placed third in an entrepreneurship challenge where I led my team in launching a pet product business that generated several hundred dollars in its first week. A few months later, I was thrilled to see validation of product market fit when my local Trader Joe's began stocking a similar product that was never offered before, and at the same price point.

Early in my career I supported my family by building a mobile martial arts business, contracting with at-risk youth programs. The discipline, resilience, and entrepreneurial mindset I honed through martial arts have fueled my passion for managing products and services that truly change people's lives. Since receiving my BSBA, I've developed multiple MVPs to build my bridge into product management. It's truly the career I am pursuing long term, and I'd be elated to channel that passion into growing Pinterest alongside your team.

Emotionally moved after 2008, I entered the finance industry with a determination to understand finance and economics. I found Primerica and became their 7th best life insurance salesman in California during 2017, which simultaneously made me 13th in the Nation. Noticing that the mutual funds that I sold were being managed by portfolio managers, I was inspired and took the leap of faith towards becoming a professional trader and investor. I landed a contract position at Toshi Markets, a start-up trading firm, where many role functions were baked into my role as a Trading Analyst, including: SDR, CSM, APM, GTM, software development, and tech-support, while maintaining a profitable trading record.

Beyond technical and analytical skills, I bring a creative mindset shaped by years in production environments, where I learned how to transform ideas into real, tangible results under tight deadlines. Whether planning team coordination for high-profile events like the Grammys or navigating the fast-paced world of financial markets, I thrive on collaborating across diverse teams and delivering work that makes an impact.

What draws me most to Pinterest is your mission to bring inspiration to everyone, and your commitment to building a product that feels both personal and universal. I'd be honored to learn from your experienced PMs and contribute to projects that connect people with ideas, creativity, and new possibilities.

Thank you for your consideration.

Best regards,
Desmond Campbell
